- I think in the end that gray is too bright. Better #2A2A2A
- I think the typo i’ve send you has several weight/styles, and we should set it like this:
 - Titles: Medium (Choose your band + band’s names, Performing, they chose, let’s create) or Thin + Bold (Our standards, events we serve)
 - Subtitles: Normal (I attached a screenshot in the comments)
 - Parragraphs: Light
- We could standardize the paragraph sizes (the small text) in the whole site. I think the size used in the “Events We Serve” section is perfect, and the rest should probably match it — for example, “Who We Are.” The only one I would leave as it is would be “Our Standards,” which is slightly smaller, but I think it works well that way
- “Bespoke musical solutions for exclusive events worldwide”: a little smaller (use the reference mockup) and Medium style
- Who We Are section:
 - The golden text in semibold and the character spacing a little closer
 - Let’s put the numbers in Normal weight
 - The number and the subtitle should be closer and centered (i attached a screenshot for reference in the comments)
 - Remove the shading of the title.
- Add a “Trusted By” above the brands. Same size as “Who We Are,” in uppercase, with one part in bold and the other in regular weight.
- Review the box that some brands have and let’s make them a little bit bigger, but not too much, like 5%. Also, we should add two more brands: Luxottica and Mitsubishi. I've added them to our drive.
- EVENTS WE SERVE:
 - I think the photos have a slight positioning issue when they transition (I attached a screenshot in the comments)
 - The line on the left should be a bit shorter (roughly the same length as the title + subtitle, like I marked in the attached image). We can keep the same size for all of them, but it should at least match the length of the longest text.
 - The text block width should be more or less the same as the title width so the text doesn’t feel too long.
 - The photos could be a bit wider to make better use of the space. I attached the size reference from Canva, although I’m not sure if the same dimensions apply in this case. Just so you can at least see the aspect ratio relationship.
 - Can the image transition follow the cursor movement instead of changing automatically?
 - I think it should transition from Weddings to Corporate a bit faster, without needing to drag the cursor so much
- “Choose your band”
 - Check the size of the band names from the reference.
 - Reduce the spacing between the title and paragraph
 - Change the font weight
 - The band names should all be in uppercase, as mock up
- “Performing Across Europe’s Most Beautiful Celebrations” section
 - Photos shouldn’t be rotated, and location buttons shouldn’t either
 - I like how smoothly the globe moves now. The problem is that it’s almost impossible to click on a location, they kind of “slip away”
- TESTIMONIALS
 - The golden text in semibold and the character spacing a little closer
 - Testimonials should be closer to the title
 - Would it be possible to make each testimonial block a bit narrower? That way we could fit three on screen. I attached a reference and also showed how I made a small adjustment in the mock-up
- Let’s make the gallery smaller like this one  Rohan Weddings New
- We should add more "Get in Touch" buttons. I added three to the mock-up (one of them is at the end, below the contact details)
- Take out the gradient of the final part of the page
- I like the fact that the navigation bar hides when you scroll down and reappears when you scroll up, but I have a question that I’m not sure is feasible. Would it be possible for the navigation bar to appear only after scrolling up a bit more — maybe after two scrolls instead of immediately? If it's not possible, no worries, it can stay as it is. The reason is that a lot of the time you scroll slightly upward just to quickly recheck a small piece of information, and the navigation bar appears instantly. Many times it covers important information or interferes with the design.
- General: Left and right margins should be aligned so every text block and graphic starts from the same position.
- General: could it be that scrolling down doesn’t feel smooth and instead moves in blocks? (Check the behavior references attached at the end of the previous file.)
- I will add all the photos in order that we should use in the page. I will let you know on the group when I have them ready
